CareWorks employs more than 800 in Dublin.

IGS Energy employs nearly 400 in its LEED Platinum-certified headquarters along I-270 in Dublin. It is America's largest independent retail supplier of natural gas and a trusted energy provider, serving over one million residential, commercial and industrial customers in the education, healthcare, foodservice, automotive, and manufacturing sectors.

IBM located its Client Center for Advanced Analytics in 2013 at the company's campus in the Emerald Corporate District near the I-270 & Tuttle Crossing interchange. The analytics center will create 500 high-tech jobs over the next three years on a campus already employing over 900 others. This type of advanced IT work, which involves capturing, analyzing and making sense of the billions of bits of data produced every minute by millions of computer users, also will position the Columbus Region as an international center for big-data analytics. The Ohio State University and IBM created undergraduate and graduate programs in analytics to increase the talent pool in this rapidly growing field.

“Not only is Dublin a wonderful community for our employees and their families, but it also has been a great partner for Cardinal Health and supporter of the business community. Our relationship with the city has been an important component of our growth here in Central Ohio.”

George S. Barrett | Cardinal Health, Chairman and CEO
